DANCING BRAVE

Dancing Brave, the new range by Zoemou, pays homage to the people of Turkmenistan. The Turkmen peoples, found in Central Asia are known for their skillful rug weaving; traditionally seen as a family activity where the designs are passed down through the generations. It is a matter of cultural importance to preserve this practice as part of their tribal history.

The traditional jewellery of Turkmenistan also holds deep symbolic meaning to its wearer and often marks an individual's passage from one stage of life to another.

Turkemen designs are a part of a long-established tradition holding significant meaning for their ancestral and heavenly connection, and for the continuance of humanity. Zoemou has explored the symbology and history to produce the beautiful jewellery collection, Dancing Brave.
